One of the various functionalities of internet is to provide live streaming videos or visual data to any part of the world. This is live broadcasting.

We often see reporters covering world events live from the place of happening being streamed in real time on the screen of computers. Wedding ceremonies are streamed live to the relatives unable to be present at the venue.

CompuBrain™ helps in providing Live Broadcasting facilities using our latest and updated technologies to keep people updated, to ensure benefits of Events and Exhibitions being reaped by the corporate community and keep relatives happy; feeling as if they were present in the wedding the whole time.
