They run the show when it comes to functioning of the computers. Without a set of instruction a machine will be handicapped and cease to exist.
Software is an essential element for functioning of machines.

Always use original softwares for the reasons that it represents the hard work put in by team of experts, which should be recognized and paid for,
and it also ensures that the systems it runs on runs error free.

CompuBrainTM encourages and strictly sees to it that use of original softwares is a mandatory work ethic.
